Redefining Carolina Quality

Sculley Boatbuilders debuted its Sculley 58 Sportfisherman at the 2002 Miami Boat Show while receiving exceptional acclaim. Transforming from a two-bay shed in 1999 to a full-scale manufacturing plant in 2001, Sculley Boatbuilders rapidly developed a sportfishing yacht that offers unrivaled performance and enduring excellence. Combining Owner Jim Sculley's fishing and boating expertise with COO & Engineer Jim Polatty's decades of boatbuilding; Sculley Boatbuilders has become a frontrunner in today's boating world. Together, Sculley and Polatty have united the finest welders, mechanics, electricians, and skilled tradesman to create the ultimate boatbuilding team at their manufacturing facility in Wanchese, North Carolina.

Presently, Sculley Boatbuilders employs 25 full time craftsman bringing together years of custom boat fabrication. Our electrical, carpentry, and mechanical divisions are dedicated to meeting all demands required by the customer. Our location on the Albermarle Sound is an ideal central location with easy access along the eastern seaboard. The challenging waters of the North Carolina Coast offer the perfect testing ground for all of our boats. No boat is released until weeks of on-hands testing are complete.
